He enlisted in the London Regt and was awarded the Military Medal whilst serving as a Corporal in that regiment. He transferred to the Royal Engineers (73rd Field Coy) and was awarded both the Croix de Guerre by the French President and the Distinguished Conduct Medal for conspicuous service at the Battle of Loos in 1915 whilst serving with the rank of Sergeant. The citation for his DCM reads: "For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty. When his section commander had been killed he led his section from the commencement of the assault on the enemy trenches, cut the wire, and led them through in the attack. He was wounded in the leg on the day." He was commissioned in December 1915 and was subsequently awarded the Military Cross, for which the citation reads: "For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty in handling his company. At short notice, and with limited means at his disposal, he successfully completed a long line of posts during the night, and held them until fully manned by other troops. His coolness and gallant conduct in action were most marked. Though often working with tired troops, he invariably got a great deal of work done, and was always ready to deal efficiently with changing situations." His many awards for gallantry made him Margate's most decorated serviceman on the Roll of Honour.

It is believed that this is a duplication of Cpl A. Clark

Although the name Cpl A. Clarke is listed on Margate War Shrine, it is believed that the entry relates to Cpl A. Clark (see above).

CLEVELAND REV<sup>D</sup> F. W.

Captain The Revd Frederick Walter Cleveland MC, Chaplain to the Forces 4th Class, attached 1/6th Bn North Staffordshire Regt
Died at No. 2 British Red Cross Hospital, Rouen, on 11th October 1918 from wounds received seven days earlier. He was aged 30 and was born at Bayswater, London. He trained at Mirfield and Lichfield and later served the Church at the Potteries and at Hornsey before becoming a Chaplain to the Forces. He was posthumously awarded the Military Cross, the citation for which reads: "During the taking of the St Quentin Canal, on 29th September 1918, and later, during the advance on Doons Hill, he rendered invaluable assistance. He was with the second wave, and dressed a number of bad cases, and as soon as the first objective was reached, he assisted back to the aid post large numbers of men. He was wounded by shell-fire in the back on 4th October. He showed great gallantry and devotion to duty." He was unmarried. His father, mother and sister, Constance, were all born at Margate (see below).

Interred at St Sever Cemetery Extension, Rouen, France

CLEVELAND G. C.

Believed to be George C. Cleveland, born in Washington DC, USA in 1877. He was the elder brother of Frederick Cleveland (see above). His name is shown on Margate War Shrine as Lt G. C. Cleveland; it is also shown on Holy Trinity Church War Memorial as G. C. Cleaveland [sic]. His name is not commemorated by the CWGC and his service record has not been traced.

CLOVER G. T.

Killed in action on 9th April 1917, aged 23. He was killed by a machine gun while advancing with his platoon to assault the third line of German trenches. Before enlisting, he was employed by Mr E. J. Bryant, baker at Cliftonville. He was the only son of Mr & Mrs Clover by her second marriage. His mother's eldest son by her first marriage had died of wounds on 24th September 1914 and his name too is inscribed on the Margate War Memorial (see H. G. Richards).

Interred at Highland Cemetery, Roelincourt, Pas de Calais, France

COLLINS P. J. M.

G/7632 Pte Percy John Maslin Collins, 3rd Bn The Buffs

Died of pneumonia on 1st November 1918 at Warley Military Hospital, Essex, aged 34. He was born at Margate.

Interred at Margate Cemetery

COOK C. E.

Despite numerous enquiries, it has not been possible to identify this casualty positively. His name is shown on Margate War Shrine at Pte C. E. Cook.

COOPER C. C.

40159 L/Cpl Cecil Charles Cooper, 14th Bn Royal Irish Rifles

Killed in action on 7th June 1917, aged 20. He had previously served with The Buffs. His family lived at Eaton Road, Margate.

Interred at Spanbrœkmolen British Cemetery, Belgium

COULBECK T. H. [sic]

G/4478 Pte John Henry Coulbeck, 2nd Bn The Buffs

Killed in action on 3rd May 1915 aged 39. He was born at Sheffield and lived at Margate. His name is shown on the Margate War Shrine as Pte T. H. Coulbeck.

Commemorated on the Ypres (Menin Gate) Memorial, Belgium

CULMER A. E.

G/212 Sgt Arthur Thomas Culmer, 6th Bn The Buffs
Killed in action on 7th October 1916, aged 20. He was born at Sarre and lived at Lydden when he joined The Buffs on the outbreak of war. He was a well-known local sportsman winning many prizes, particularly for boxing and running. When he enlisted he was captain of Manston Athletic Club and was working at Flete Farm.
Interred at Bancourt British Cemetery, Pas de Calais, France

CULVER A. E.

G/4923 Pte Alfred Edward Culver, 2nd Bn The Buffs
Killed in action on 19th April 1915, aged 30. He was born at Margate. He left behind a widow, Florence.
Commemorated by the CWGC on the Ypres (Menin Gate) Memorial, Belgium

CURTIS R. C. [sic]

Believed to be 1466 Trooper Frederick Rupert Curtis, Household Bn, Household Cavalry
Killed in action on 11th May 1917 aged 31. He was born at London and lived at Margate. Although his initials are different from those shown on both Margate War Memorial and Margate War Shrine, there is a reference in a contemporary local newspaper to a Trooper Charles Curtis who, it is believed, is the same soldier as shown above.
Commemorated by the CWGC on the Arras Memorial, France

DADD H. W.

J.30502(C) Boy 1st Class William Henry Dadd, HMS Natal, RN

DALTON H. F.

J.42639(PO) Boy 1st Class Harold Frank Dalton, HMS Invincible, RN

Killed in action at the Battle of Jutland on 31st May 1916 when the battle cruiser Invincible was blown up by gunfire from German battle cruisers. He was aged 16. He was born at Canterbury and was working as a Shopman when he joined the Navy at the age of 15. His home was at Thanet Road, Margate.

Commemorated by the CWGC on Portsmouth Naval Memorial

DAVIS A.

DAVIS H. G. F.

98 L/Cpl Henry George Frederick Davis, 2nd Coy, 4th Bn Guards Machine Gun Regt

Died of wounds on 2nd August 1917, aged 26. He was a native of Margate and lived in London. He previously served with the Grenadier Guards.

Interred at Dozinghem Military Cemetery, Belgium

DAVISON C. H.

226607(C) Petty Officer Charles Henry George Pettman (alias C. H. G. Davison), HMS Pathfinder, RN

Killed in action when the light cruiser Pathfinder was sunk by the German submarine U-21 off the Firth of Forth, Scotland on 5th September 1914. He was aged 25. He was born at Minster and was working as a Draper's Assistant when he joined the Navy in June 1903 at the age of 15. He lived at Trinity Square and left behind a widow, Florence Davison. His family name was Pettman. Initially, he served in the Navy under his family name and, later, under his alias. Both his family name and his alias are inscribed on Margate War Memorial and, therefore, it would appear that he is commemorated twice on Margate War Memorial. To complicate matters further, his alias (Davison) is shown incorrectly as Davidson on Margate War Shrine. (See also entry for H. G. Pettman)

DENNETT A. R.

G/35531 Pte Albert Richard Dennett, 12th Bn East Surrey Regt

Killed in action on 27th September 1917, aged 32. His family lived at Manston.

DENNIS W.

G/4265 L/Cpl William Dennis, 8th Bn The Buffs

Killed instantly by a shell when he took a German trench on 21st August 1916, aged 31. His family lived at Byron Road.

Commemorated by the CWGC on the Thiépval Memorial, France

DEVEREUX J. W.

Warrant Officer John William Devereux, Torpedo Boat 117, RN

Died when he was washed overboard from his vessel during rough weather in the Dover Strait on 11th November 1914, aged 30. Although he was a good swimmer, it is believed that his heavy boots and clothing weighed him down and lessened his chances of being saved in such a heavy swell. He had served in the Navy for 12 years and his father was at one time chief officer of Margate Coast Guard. His body was never found.

Commemorated by the CWGC on Chatham Naval Memorial

(Note: John Devereux's name has yet to be inscribed by the CWGC on Chatham Naval Memorial – October 2010)

DEVERSON A.

Despite numerous enquiries, it has not been possible to identify this casualty positively even though his name is shown on Margate War Shrine as Driver A. Deverson.

It is, however, possible that the name on Margate War Memorial is an amalgam of the names of both:

Apprentice Cook Alfred Stephen Deveson, SS Perseverance, Mercantile Marine

Died on 21st March 1917. His mother lived at Church Street, Margate

Commemorated by the CWGC on the Tower Hill Memorial, London

and

S/19906 Rifleman Robert Henry Deverson, 11th Bn Rifle Brigade

Killed in action on 26th February 1917 aged 28. He was born at Margate and left behind a widow, Marguerite.

Commemorated by the CWGC on Thiépvall Memorial, France

DOUGHTY G. M.

Lt George Marbrook Doughty MC, 22nd Bn Middlesex Regt attd 17th Bn Machine Gun Corps

Killed in action at Bodmin Copse, Flanders on 21st August 1917, aged 21. He had joined the East Kent Mounted Rifles as a trooper shortly after the outbreak of war and was commissioned into the Middlesex Regt in December 1915. After instruction in machine-gunnery he went to the Front in April 1916 and attached to the Machine Gun Corps. Whilst serving with the MGC, his gallantry resulted in the posthumous award of the MC, the citation for which reads: "For conspicuous gallantry and devotion to duty when commanding a sub-section of machine guns. He held the position for three days and nights, under heavy machine-gun, rifle and shell fire, waist deep in water, but in spite of these terribly adverse conditions he silenced an enemy machine gun, and kept up a constant fire upon parties of the enemy who were massing for counter-attack, thereby protecting our left flank. Whilst firing his gun the pin broke at a critical moment, but he repaired the stoppage first with his tie-pin, and afterwards with a split pin from a grenade. Throughout the whole of the operation his courage and cheerfulness set a splendid example to his men, and contributed very largely to the success of the whole affair." His MC was presented to his father, Mr F. J. Doughty, a Margate builder. George's brother Robert also lost his life in the war (see below). There is a plaque in St John's Church in memory of the two brothers (UKNIWM 30095).

Interred at Bedford House Cemetery, Zillebeke, Belgium

DOUGHTY R. C.

2/Lt Robert Cecil Doughty, 101st Squadron, Royal Flying Corps

Killed at Noyon, France on 26th February 1918, aged 28. He was his squadron's Armament Officer and was testing a new gun when it exploded prematurely causing injuries from which he died soon afterwards. He joined the Army in May 1915 and for about a year he did valuable work as a despatch rider before obtaining his commission as a 2/Lt in the RFC. He was an Old Boy of Holy Trinity School and, after leaving school, spent three years engaged in his father's business before being employed in a builder's business at Bournemouth. His brother George also lost his life in the war (see above). There is a plaque in St John's Church in memory of the two brothers (UKNIWM 30095).

Interred at Noyon New British Cemetery, Oise, France

DRAYSON C. H.

42937 Pte Charles Henry Drayson, 30th Bn Machine Gun Corps

Died as a prisoner of war on 19th June 1918, aged 19. He was born at Margate and, at one time, lived on the Hartsdown estate.

Interred at Neuf-Brisach Communal Cemetery Extension, France

DRAYSON J.

1491 Company Sergeant Major John Drayson MC, 1st Bn Northumberland Fusiliers

Killed in action on 16th June 1918, aged 29. He was born at Woodnesborough and, at one time, lived on the Hartsdown estate. He left behind a widow, Laura.

Interred at Sandpits British Cemetery, Fouquereuil, Pas de Calais, France

DREW W. R.

FOORB [sic]      W. H.

*It is believed that the name shown on Margate War Memorial as W. H. Foorb relates either to a duplication of Pte William Foord (see below) or to either L/Cpl William Henry Foord, 2nd Bn The Buffs who was killed in action on 28th September 1915 aged 22 and whose name is commemorated on the Loos Memorial to the Missing or to Lt William Beverly Foord-Kelcey MC, "C" Bty, 104th Bde, Royal Field Artillery who died on 24th September 1918 aged 38 and interred at Tincourt New British Cemetery, France. Lt Foord-Kelcey was the only son of Mr George Foord-Kelcey, a former Town Clerk of Margate. The name Pte W. H. ### FRIEND      G. B. T.

*Capt George Burton Taddy Friend, "D" Coy, 6th Bn The Buffs
Killed in action on 26th July 1915, aged 35. He was the eldest son of James Taddy Friend of Northdown. He was educated at Wellington House, Westgate-on-Sea and Harrow. Capt Friend had joined the Army in 1900 and served with his regiment in India from 1900 to 1903, retiring in 1906 to take up farming. On the outbreak of war in August 1914, he rejoined his old regiment and commanded "D" Coy, 6th Buffs, which was always known as Cory's as some 250 men had been drafted from the firm of William Cory and Son Ltd to form "D" Coy. He had three brothers who all served in the war. He left behind a widow, Susie, and two sons. There is a tablet to his memory in St Mary's Chapel at Holy Trinity Church, Northdown (UKNIWM 29762).
Interred at Calvaire (Essex) Military Cemetery, Plægsteert, Belgium*

HARGREAVES C.

2/Lt Clifford Hargreaves, 22nd Bn London Regt (The Queen's)

Died on 22nd August 1918 whilst serving as the Battalion Signalling Officer. He was aged 23. Prior to enlisting in August 1914, he held an appointment at the local Labour Exchange. With the exception of the first five months, he spent three years in the front-lines in France and Salonika and was twice mentioned in despatches. He obtained his commission in November 1917. He left behind a widow, Beatrice.

Interred at Beacon Cemetery, Sailly-Laurette, Somme, France

HARLOW G. W.

Armourer Staff Sergeant George William Harlow, 25th Coy, Royal Army Ordnance Corps

Died on 18th November 1917. He was born at Margate.

Interred at Kantara War Cemetery, Egypt

HARMAN E. E.

69468 Pte Edward Ernest Harman, 6th Bn The Queen's (Royal West Surrey) Regt

Interred at Morlancourt British Cemetery No. 2, Somme, France

HARPER F. H. C. [sic]

10043 Pte Frederick William Claringbull Harper, 1st Bn The Buffs

Killed he was shot through the heart as he was bandaging a wounded soldier on 18th October 1914. He was aged 20 and, before joining The Buffs in August 1913, had had three years' service with the Margate Coy of the RAMC: it was his knowledge of first-aid that tempted him and cost him his life. His name on the Margate War Shrine is incorrectly shown as Ldg Seaman R. W. H. Harper having, apparently, been mixed up with Ldg Seaman R. W. H. Boulden's name.

HATFEILD C. E.

Capt Charles Eric Hatfeild MC, 10th (Royal East and West Kent Yeomanry) Bn The Buffs

Killed in action on 21st September 1918, aged 31. He was the heir to the Hartsdown estate and was educated at Wellington House School, Westgate-on-Sea, Eton and New College, Oxford. He was a brilliant cricketer and played for Kent after leaving Oxford and up to the outbreak of the war. He was gazetted to the East Kent Yeomanry in 1912 and served at Gallipoli, Egypt, Palestine and France. He was posthumously awarded the Military Cross and was also mentioned in despatches. The citation for his MC reads: "For conspicuous gallantry in leading his company during the advance at Templeux-le-Guérand towards the Hindenburg Line on September 18th 1918. In spite of the fire of hostile machine-guns which repeatedly held up the advance, he got his men forward, exposing himself fearlessly. It was largely due to this officer's splendid example that the advance during the day was carried out so rapidly." His mother was to become Margate's first lady Mayor in 1926.

Interred at Hargicourt Communal Cemetery Extension, Aisne, France

HAYWARD A.

HAYWARD S. G.

200180 Sgt Sidney Gordon Hayward, 1/4th Bn The Buffs

Died at Cambridge Hospital, Aldershot on 6th July 1919, aged 24. He enlisted in The Buffs in 1912 and, on the outbreak of war, went to India. He later was posted to Mesopotamia and took part in the relief of Kut where he contracted dysentery. He was sent back to India before returning to England with a recurrence of the same disorder. Although operated on, his weakened constitution prevented a recovery and he died in the presence of his mother who had spent seven days at his bedside. His family lived at Hengist Avenue, Margate.

Interred at Margate Cemetery

HAZELDINE E. W.

HEAVER R. A.

Z/2701 Able Seaman Reginald Andrew Heaver, Anson Bn, Royal Naval Division

Died on 26th October 1918 as a prisoner-of-war in German hands at Madchenschule War Hospital, aged 20. He was working as a Chemist's Assistant when he first joined the Royal Naval Division in July 1915 – just two days after his 17th birthday. Like many others, he had been untruthful about his age when he enlisted: he had added a year to his age. Shortly after reaching the age of 18, he admitted the true date of his birth. By that time, however, he had served at Alexandria and elsewhere in the Mediterranean. He was discharged as 'under age' in January 1917 but, by July of that year, was back in Anson Bn at Blandford Camp and by mid-August of the following year was at Calais. Within two weeks of landing in France, he was reported as wounded and missing on 25th August. His mother lived at Edgar Road, Cliftonville.

Interred at Iwuy Communal Cemetery, Nord, France

HOBDAY E.

20245 Pte [Clifford] Ernest Hobday, 36th Coy Machine Gun Corps

Died of wounds on 9th October 1916, aged 28. It is believed that he was the brother of Pte Leonard Hobday who was killed in action just five days earlier (see below). Both had earlier enlisted in the Royal Fusiliers when they again had consecutive service numbers (Ernest's was 2847 and Leonard's was 2848) before they were both transferred to the same Company of the Machine Gun Corps. Both were born at Canterbury, both lived at Margate and both enlisted at Waltham Green.

Interred at Heilly Station Cemetery, Mericourt-l'Abbe, Somme, France

HOBDAY L.

PETTMAN H. G.

226607(C) Petty Officer Charles Henry George Pettman (alias C. H. G. Davison), HMS Pathfinder, RN

He lost his life when the light cruiser Pathfinder was sunk by the German submarine U-21 off the Firth of Forth, Scotland on 5th September 1914. He was aged 25. He was born at Minster and was working as a Draper's Assistant when he joined the Navy in June 1903 at the age of 15. He lived at Trinity Square and left behind a widow, Florence Davison. His family name was Pettman and his parents lived at Hengist Avenue, Margate. Initially, he served in the Navy under his family name and, later, under his alias. Both his family name and his alias are inscribed on Margate War Memorial and, therefore, it would appear that he is commemorated twice on Margate War Memorial. Although his name is shown on the Margate War Shrine as Pte H. G. Pettman, it is believed that his rank is incorrectly shown thereon. (See also entry for C. H. G. Davison.)
Commemorated by the CWGC (as C. H. G. Pettman) on Chatham Naval Memorial
